For the Vortex timer project, I made a few changes to the JavaScript and CSS files to make it so that only one timer appears instead of 6. No changes were made to the HTML.

For the android app for the Archipelago timer project, I downloaded and used the Android Studio application on my laptop. The APK file is created from that. The next step is to use that APK file to create the app.

The next step is to create the IOS app for the Vortex timer project.